

Community Supported Agriculture Winter Share Box

Nith Valley Organics is pleased to offer our third season of winter shares. Space is limited to the first 25 people.

How it works

Every two weeks, we'll pack a box with a combination of storage vegetables, and something green. You pick it up, and return the previous week's box for us to fill two weeks later.

What you get

We expect to include in every box:

squash (through December), carrots, onions, garlic (pending supply) potatoes, and cabbage (while it lasts);

At least one of:

lettuce, spinach or kale (but mostly spinach);

one of:

beets (more often) turnips, winter radishes, rutabagas, jerusalem artichokes;

By late May or early June, we should have asparagus, and possibly radishes, and strawberries.

Everything is either Certified Organic, or grown according to organic principles on land that is in transition (beets and carrots). Most of it is ours; all of it is local.

Cost

$316 for 8 bi-weekly pickups; $624 for 16, payable one week before first pickup.

When:

Dates for the first 8 pickups:

November 8
November 22
December 6
December 20
January 3, 2017
January 17
January 31
February 14

The next 8 start on the February 28th and run every 2nd week.

Location

Neighbourhood/workplace drop-off:

If you get six people together, we will bring the boxes to a location (within KW/Wilmot township/Cambridge) of your choice[†]. You set the pickup time frame to a negotiated range.

Farm Gate pick-up

The default location is the farm, which you can find using Google Maps — search for Nith Valley Organics. We're 20-30 minutes from most locations in KW and Cambridge.
